Trucks Grind To Halt In 11 West States

100,000 MEN IDLED IN TIEUP

San Francisco (AP) — Shutdown of the $2,500,000-a-day interstate trucking industry in 11 western states began Monday. Employer orders for the shutdown began going out because of a teamster union strike in California's Central Valley, one of the richest productive regions in the world.

—Mideast Debate—

Soviets Gaining Support

Afro-Asians For Pull-Out Of U.S. Troops

United Nations (AP) — Asian and African nations were reported lining up strongly behind Soviet demands that United States and British forces withdraw from Lebanon and Jordan as a preliminary to any long-range Middle East settlement.

This word came from a responsible Asian diplomat as Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko conferred with Indian Delegate Arthur S. Lall and other delegates on issues which will come before the emergency General Assembly Wednesday.

Lall was extremely active behind the scenes although Indian sources said he had no plan of his own for tackling the long-standing headaches of the Middle East. He saw U.S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge and presumably reported to him on Asian-African views.

Lodge was in close touch with Washington, where Secretary of State Dulles was busy drafting a broad plan to bring political and economic stability to the Middle East.

Ike In Person?

There were widespread reports at U.N. headquarters that the plan would be presented by President Eisenhower personally, but this could not be confirmed. Neither could the U.S. delegation say definitely when the U.S. speech would be delivered.

It had been assumed that the United States, as one of the chief sponsors of the emergency assembly, would seek to lead off the debate, especially if Eisenhower himself decided to come.

Informed sources hinted, however, that the U.S. speech might not be delivered before Thursday.

First Move

This would give the Soviet Union the first move. Soviet sources indicated Gromyko would seek an early spot, probably Wednesday.

Some diplomats believe the United States might be giving up a potential advantage if it held back, but U.S. sources said the main consideration in Washington was to make sure the United States made the strongest possible presentation.

The United States was said to be determined to come up with a positive plan which would overshadow Soviet attacks on the western powers for intervention in Lebanon and Jordan. There was scant information, however, as to just what concrete plans the United States had.

Had To Happen

Kansas City (AP) — Trying to poke some papers into a pigeon hole in his desk, Jackson County Circuit Clerk Francis M. Cook flushed two live pigeons.

The first shutdowns, ultimately expected to idle 100,000 men, affected only California.

But an employer spokesman said the shutdown should be completed in another two or three days in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

The delay elsewhere is occasioned by the necessity of contacting 7 employer associations which will pass along the shutdown orders.

Also, the full effect will not be felt until long-haul drivers, out on the highways a day or two from their destinations, have completed their runs.

Perishables To Move

Perishables such as milk will be permitted to move. So will medical and emergency supplies. Both sides have agreed to that. But many other shipments such as gasoline tanker trucks, will be tied up.

Interstate trucking sources in Kansas City said some trucking firms already have advised customers they will be unable to serve them in the 11 Western states.

The combined strike-shutdown is expected to cause considerable piling up of freight at such carrier terminals as Denver, Kansas City, Salt Lake, Minneapolis and Amarillo. Allowing the trucks to complete their runs will cut this down considerably.

Pickets Appear

The gigantic paralysis was touched off Monday by the appearance of teamsters union pickets in the Central Valley. The strike there was ordered by the Sacramento local which has jurisdiction between Bakersfield and the south and the Oregon border on the north.

Employers had disapproved the local's demand that valley drivers get the same increase negotiated by drivers in the San Francisco Bay area. It called for an increase of $1.60 a day plus fringe benefits which made it a package boost of $4.57 a day, effective next Jan. 1.

Resuscitator Fails To Save 5-Month-Old

A 5-month-old baby died in Lincoln early Monday evening, despite resuscitator attempts by the Lincoln Fire Department rescue squad, which worked on the child half an hour before she was pronounced dead by a Lincoln physician.

She was Kimberlee Ann Beaty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald W. Beaty of 1115 N. 26th. Beaty was out of town on a construction job near Ashland at the time of his daughter's death.

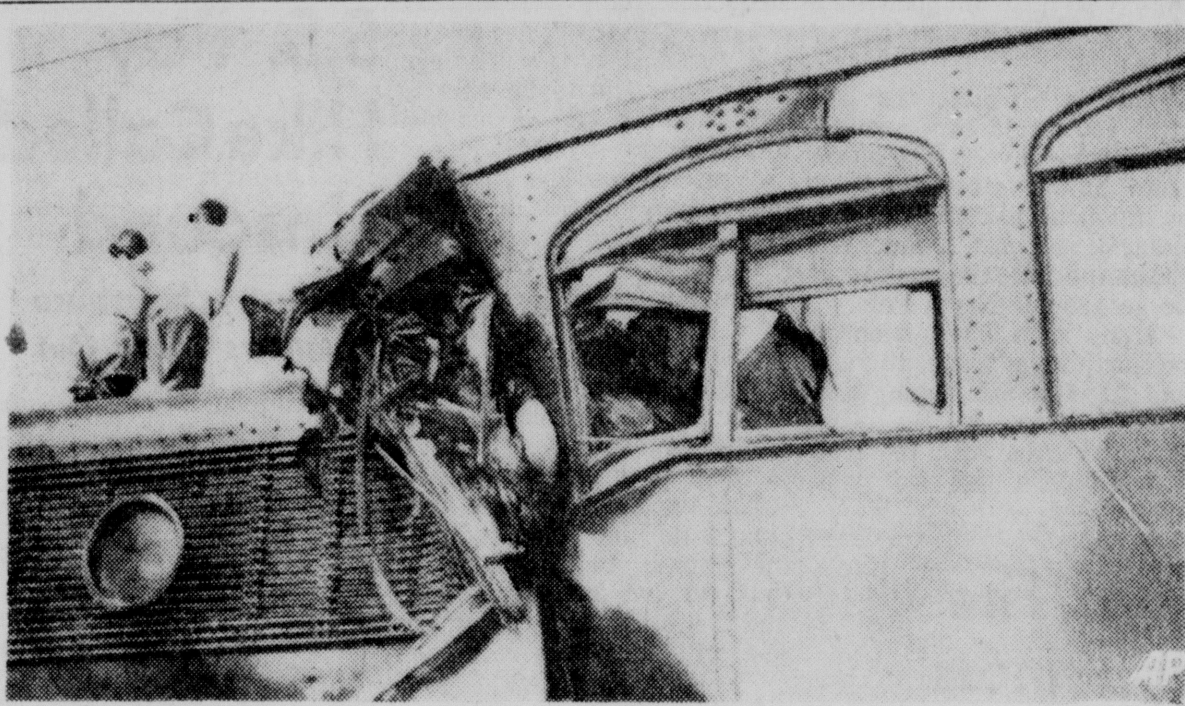

The baby was sleeping in her crib when the mother noticed that the baby was turned toward the wall and apparently was not breathing, officials said.

The baby's body was taken to a local hospital for an autopsy, which was authorized by Deputy County Attorney Dale Fahrbruch.

Deputy Sheriff William Johnson was unavailable for comment on results of the autopsy.

Citizens Listing Intangibles Late Must Pay 50% Penalty

... Attorney General Answers Davis Tax Question

By Nancy Benjamin

An attorney general's opinion, requested through County Atty. Elmer Scheele by County Assessor Arthur Davis, ended any doubts that taxpayers "volunteering" information on their taxable intangibles after the April 20 yearly deadline can avoid the 50% penalty.

Letters to approximately 250 Lancaster County taxpayers, whose 1958 returns show discrepancies with stock lists filed with the state tax commissioner, were held up for the ruling, Davis said.

Now that the attorney general has ruled definitely that all omitted intangibles discovered or reported after the April deadline are subject to the 50% (2 mill) penalty, "we now know where we stand and will operate that way," Davis said.

The notices to the 250 Lancaster County residents will go out immediately, he said.

Answered Question

The attorney general's opinion was in answer to the question, "Must the county assessor affix a 50% penalty on intangible property where the taxpayer after April 20 amends his return and adds omitted intangibles?"

The attorney general's answer: Yes. The opinion said, in part: "We can see no difference in the case of the assessor actually discovering the omitted intangible property and adding the value to the schedule and the situation where the taxpayer files a return on time but omits certain intangibles and later notifies the assessor of the omitted property. . . . In either case the property was not listed for purposes of taxation within the time prescribed by the Legislature."

Not Penalized

Davis explained that up to the present, addition of intangible (cash, taxable stocks or bonds; property voluntarily by the taxpayer has been taxed at the 4-mill intangible rate, and the 50% penalty has not been applied in these cases.

He added that the same situation probably exists in all other Nebraska counties. Volunteer additions of intangibles, mostly stocks, after the April deadline, have been very few and of minor value, Davis added.

Davis also pointed out that the present 1958 personal property tax form, made up by the County Assessors Assn., and authorized by the State Tax Commission does not even include space to list any penalty for intangibles as it does in the tangible property section.

He also explained that the approximately 250 reminders being sent to Lancaster County residents whose tax forms differ from State Tax Commission stock lists "do not by any means mean that all are violating the law."

Ownership Unlisted

Many of the individuals have sold their stocks or bonds, but state lists do not show the change of ownership, he explained. Many others have listed intangibles under "Other."

H. Dietemeyer, 65, Dies; Headed Burlington Group

Herman Dietemeyer, 65, of 1235 Rose, died late Monday night.

Mr. Dietemeyer was formerly president of the Burlington Railroad Veterans Assn., having been named one of its youngest heads and the first engineer to head the organization.

He was also chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Lodge 98 of the Lincoln and Omaha Division of the Burlington Railroad, elected to that position in 1954.

der the name of another member of the family, he said.

Under Nebraska law, stocks owned in domestic (state) corporations or domesticated foreign corporations are not taxable; nor are bonds held in Nebraska governmental subdivisions. Bonds held in municipalities outside of Nebraska, stocks owned in railroad companies, stocks held in national banks outside of Nebraska and stocks in foreign corporations are taxable.

Stocks and bonds are taxed at the rate of $4 per $1,000 valuation (4 mills) and cash is taxed at $2.50 per $1,000.

Non-Recognition Of Red China 'Quarantine'

... Dulles Memorandum Explains

Washington (AP) — The United States Monday pictured its 10-year refusal to recognize Red China as a quarantine which helps Communist infection from spreading.

A 5,000-word memorandum on the subject, signed by Secretary of State Dulles, was sent to all 84 U. S. missions around the world.

A State Department spokesman, Joseph W. Reap, said it amounted to a restatement of the U.S.-China policy laid down by Dulles in a speech at San Francisco a year ago. The memo was first published after it was leaked — inadvertently, the State Department said — to reporters.

'No Connection'

Reap denied its publication now had any relation to the United Nations General Assembly meeting Wednesday, when the question of seating Red China in Nationalist China's place is expected to be raised by the Soviet delegation.

Reap said the memo was drafted at the request of a friendly government and several U.S. embassies. He refused to name either the government or the embassies.

The memo noted that most nations recognize Nationalist China in preference to Red China. The score is 45-19, with most of the 19 having recognized Peiping before the Korean War in 1950.

The statement said that, if the United States recognized Red China now, these things would happen:

The Results

Nationalist China would be seriously crippled if not altogether destroyed. That would blast the hopes of Chinese determined to free their country from Communism. It would also undermine the Nationalist China military power poised off the China mainland as a deterrent to Communist expansion.

Nearby nations, especially South Korea and Viet Nam, would be confused and demoralized. They might feel abandoned by the United States and take "desperate measures, not caring whether these threatened the peace."

$320 Million Crop Seen; Best Yield Since '52

... Record Wheat Estimate Also Boosted

Nebraskans can expect a 1958 corn crop valued at approximately $320,755,500, figures released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture indicate.

The USDA Monday upped its estimate of the state's corn crop to 246,735,000 bushels at 45 bushels and acre. First estimates by the government crop observers had set the crop at 211,320,000 bushels at 40 bushels per acre.

Based on conditions as they existed Aug. 1, the estimate equals the 1957 average of 45 bushels per acre and would mean the largest corn harvest since 1952 when the state produced 261,960,000 bushels.

4 Reasons

Listed by A. V. Nordquist, state-federal agricultural statistician, as the reasons for the hike in the estimate were: 1—A very favorable last two weeks of July.

2—Heavy rainfall which boosted crops in the northeast.

3—Uniformly excellent prospects throughout the state.

4—Sub-soil moisture which is "as favorable as we've ever seen."

Nordquist noted however that the estimate was based on the presumption that the state will receive about the normal amount of rainfall until the crop matures.

"A continuation of excessive heat without rain would upset the forecast," he said.

$1.30 Per Bushel

The estimated value of the crop, $320,755,500, is based on preliminary federal corn support price estimate of $1.30 per-bushel for commercial corn.

Also receiving a boost in the USDA's August forecast was the size of Nebraska's record setting wheat crop.

The new figure advanced the wheat crop to 114,312,000 bushels or 33 bushels an acre.

Earlier Estimate Record

The earlier estimate had totaled 104 million bushels, some 6 million bushels more than the former record set in 1952.

Value of the 1958 wheat crop in the state was estimated at $211,477,200 based on government support prices which are expected to average about $1.85 per bushel in Nebraska for number one farm stored wheat.

Nebraska's oat crop also received a boost which is expected to make it the second best crop since the turn of the century. A yield of 49,402,000 bushels is estimated.

Best Since 1917

The 34 bushels of oats per acre predicted has not been topped since 1917 when the yield averaged 34½ bushels per acre.

Nordquist noted that the oats, "turned out well, considering the heads developed on short stalks, due to a cool wet July."

State crop forecasts also increased by the USDA included:

Barley: 7,700,000 at 27.5 bushels per acre compared with previous forecast of 7,560,000 bushels at 27 per acre.

Rye: 3,682,000 bushels at 18.5 per acre compared with previous forecast of 3,383,000 bushels at 17 per acre.

The state sorghum crop was set at 63,440,000 bushels, and dry edible beans at 1,550 pounds an acre with a total production of 992,000 pounds.

"The sub-soil moisture is ideal for the sorghum crop," Nordquist said.

MORE HEAT; RAIN, HAIL SPOT STATE

Continued 90-degree weather is likely in Nebraska again Tuesday following spotted heavy rain, damaging hail and a funnel sighting in the state Monday.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms are due in the north Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Hail flattened corn in fields near Wilcox southeast of Holdrege and in the Upland vicinity south of Minden in Kansas-bordering Franklin County. Unofficial precipitation up to 6 inches was reported north of Upland.

Rainfall measured .84 inch in Upland; 2.90 inches to the northeast and .43 inch at Minden.

Scottsbluff Funnel

A tornado funnel reportedly touched ground and then pulled away 6 miles north of Scottsbluff. Heavy dust swirled over the area but no damage was reported.

Other precipitation from showers spotted over the state included .23 inch at Sidney and .03 inch at Chadron.

Beatrice recorded the state high of 96.

Lincoln reported a high of 91; low was 69.

HAIL BIG AS HEN'S EGGS

Upland, Neb. (AP) — Hail stones the size of hen eggs and an estimated 6 inches of rain fell Monday afternoon in an area 2 miles east and a mile north of Upland.

The Fred Johnson and Myron Jameson farms were hardest hit by the storm, although other farms in the area suffered some damage.

At the Johnson farm, the giant hail stones piled up several inches deep on the ground. Crops were flattened.

Mrs. Myron Jameson, who lives two miles straight east of Upland, said "We're hailed out." She reported leaves stripped from the trees and corn stripped and flattened.

Mrs. Jameson said the hail stones falling at their farm were about the size of large marbles. About 5 inches of rain accompanied the hail.

Mrs. Jameson said she understood that some farms had windows broken by the hail.

Today's Chuckle

Then there's the cannibal tycoon who got rich peddling instant people.

Food Grains Up

Striking increases in the outlook for food grains and oilseed crops contributed greatly to the picture.

Forecasts on individual crops included:

Wheat—Crop of 1,421,000,000 bushels expected. The previous record of 1,358,000,000 bushels was in 1947. Last year's crop was only 947 million bushels.

Corn—Crop put at 3,487,000,000 bushels, second largest on record and two per cent larger than last year.

Soybeans—Record crop of 535 million bushels forecast, more than 10 per cent larger than last year.

Barley—Expected crop of 452 million bushels which would be a record.

Fruit—Expected to be 3 per cent greater than last year and two per cent above average.

Several 2nd Largest

Crops forecast to be the second largest on record included oats, potatoes, hay and sugar.

Pastures, an important source of livestock feed, were reported in excellent condition.

The prospective big output reflects the increasing efficiency of agriculture—better production practices, more and better machinery, more and better fertilizers and improved varieties, officials said.

The lack of droughts and damage from excessive heat also helped crops.

The City Council officially approved the 1959-60 budget of $4,358,349 requiring a 16.6 mill levy to raise $2,475,727 in tax funds.

The new budget is $402,815 higher than last year's budget of $3,955,532, but requires just $336,382 more in tax money. The amount of the levy increase is 1.8 mills, or $1.80 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Balance of the budget is $445,982 in estimated balances on Sept. 1 and $4,436,640 estimated from other revenue sources.

The Council made no last-minute changes in the budget, but did okay $1,500 for waived police vacations. The amount is to be absorbed in the appropriated police budget.

Council Approval
The Council said the waived vacation list must have its approval and is to be used in emergency-type situations when it is necessary to recall officers or police officials from vacation periods.

An ordinance appropriating the new budget as adopted will be introduced next Monday. It will come up for public hearing and final passage on Sept. 1.

Cool Nebraskan—

Here's one Nebraskan who has been escaping the current heat wave. He is Electrician's Mate Second Class James H. Johnson, 22, of Davenport, who was aboard the U.S.S. Nautilus on the record North Pole voyage.

Nautilus Nebraskan Pens Vic From Under Polar Cap

Gov. Victor Anderson Monday received a letter from Electrician's Mate James H. Johnson of Davenport, Neb., the only Nebraskan aboard the USS Nautilus, written as the atomic-powered submarine sailed under the polar ice cap at the top of the world.

"This is probably the last letter you would expect to receive from anyone," Johnson wrote the governor, "but at the moment not just anyone could do so, for I am well within the 100-mile radius of the geographic North Pole. "Many men have been to the North Pole," he continued, "but I feel safe in saying that we (the crew of the USS Nautilus) have been the first to accomplish this feat submerged."

"We have traveled submerged under the ice cap at speeds over 20 knots and depths below 400 feet," Johnson explained.

Only Nebraskan
"In view of the fact that I am the only Nebraskan aboard Nautilus," he continued, "I consider it a privilege to be here and to be able to write and tell you of this historical event myself."

Johnson wrote the governor that his parents (Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Johnson) and two sisters live at Davenport where his father farms.

"I graduated from Davenport High School in 1953," Johnson added, "and had the honor of being asked to attend Cornhusker Boys State the year previous."

The electrician's mate first class said the "transit from the Pacific to the Atlantic thus far has been excellent, and the good Lord willing, the rest will be the same."

'We Are Proud'
In his answer to Johnson, Gov. Anderson wrote, "We are extremely proud that at least one Nebraskan was aboard the Nautilus on this momentous occasion."

"Your pride in the successful completion of the cruise under the North Pole is justified," he continued, noting that the accomplishment "has certainly received due accord throughout the entire nation."

"In times like these," the governor said, "we feel particularly grateful for the outstanding job you men are doing to protect our country."

Gov. Anderson concluded, "It is my sincere hope that your further travels will continue to be interesting and that you will always enjoy a safe return."

Critchfield Hits Labor Department CAA Wage Delay

Contractor spokesman James Critchfield leveled a charge of error and delay Monday at the U.S. Labor Department for forcing the Civil Aeronautics Authority to use an incomplete set of wages on a Nebraska project.

The project, ordered by Congress as a part of a speed-up program to improve airways navigational aids, is called VORTAC Facility Conversion.

The contract was let by the Civil Aeronautics Administration out of Kansas City, and Critchfield was told by the Kansas City CAA regional office that 8 days after the contract was let, it received corrected wage decisions, Critchfield said.

Since wage handling on the interstate highway has come under Associated General Contractors criticism, Critchfield said, the Labor Department has cut off this information.

"The result is that errors by the Labor Department in Washington aren't caught until contract specifications are issued by the letting agencies and specifications have gone to contractors," he said.

Gov. Victor Anderson, meanwhile, said he will handle any future disputes state agencies may have over pay scales set by the Labor Department.

Hay Fever Patients now open Nose-Sinus Zone with New 3-Layer Tablet

Clear, free breathing restored in minutes as congested nasal zone is decongested—stops sneezing, watery, itching eyes

Chicago, Ill. (Special) Observers here are hailing a remarkable new advance against the most unrelenting misery of hay fever—congestion in the nose-sinus zone.

A way has been found to decongest this congestion. This is the central fact which has aroused so much interest on the part of hay fever sufferers who have never found satisfactory relief from other medications.

Up to now, nose drops, eye drops, inhalers, sprays and antihistamines have given some measure of relief. But today you can expect much more complete comfort. This new compound reaches all the congested nasal areas from all sides, through the blood stream. It opens up, up, blocked nasal passages. Free breathing is restored in minutes. Stops unpleasant sneezing; watery, itching eyes are cleared.

Gas-Oil Depletion Cut Try Loses In Senate

Washington (UPI)—The Senate soundly defeated 2 attempts Monday night to cut the 27½% depletion allowance oil and gas producers claim on their income tax.

The votes were taken as the Senate during a late night session considered a catch-all excise tax revision bill. The measure would trim the federal levy on theatre admissions and extend for 12 years the tax-free period on bonded whiskey.

Final passage of the bill was put off until Tuesday when the Senate adjourned with some amendments still pending.

It rejected by a roll call vote of 26 to 63 an amendment by Sen. John Williams (R-Del) which would have cut the oil depletion allowance to 15%. It then defeated 31 to 58 an amendment by Sen. William E. Proxmire (D-Wis.) to provide a graduated reduction.

The Williams' proposal would have provided an estimated 400 million dollars in added revenue for the treasury. Proxmire's plan would have brought in about 300 million dollars.

Proxmire called the tax depletion allowance a "golden gimmick" for oil and gas producers. He said it was the "most notorious, most indefensible tax loophole."

The change on admission taxes to theaters and other recreational events in the bill would exempt from federal taxation the first $1 of any admission charge. Currently admissions up to 90 cents are exempt. This was a benefit written for the motion picture industry in 1956.

The Senate earlier voted to give liquor distillers an extra 12 years in which to pay the $10.50 a gallon federal tax on bonded whiskey despite charges it would mean a "windfall" for some interests.

3 Religious Groups Hit By Burglars

Two churches and the Salvation Army Citadel were burglarized late Sunday or early Monday, apparently by an intruder or intruders in search of money, but little loss or damage was reported.

File cabinets and a desk in the pastor's office were ransacked at the Church of the Nazarene, 3300 C, but no money is kept in the building and nothing was reported missing.

The Rev. Clifford Fisher, pastor, said entrance to the church was gained through an unlocked basement window. Molding was removed from the side of the door to the pastor's office and the lock was pried open, he said.

At the University Episcopal Church, 346 North 13th, entry was gained through an unlocked basement door. A hole was broken in a panel next to the door of the pastor's office, permitting the intruder to reach in and unlock the door. No damage or missing items have yet been reported, according to a police report.

No damage or loss was reported by officials at the Salvation Army Citadel at 1130 Q. Police said an attempt was made to remove money from two peanut machines at the Citadel, but that the machines were not damaged and no money was taken. A cash register drawer was found open but it had contained no money.

False Report Brings Fire Truck, Cars, Ambulances

... Action Termed Foolish, Costly

An unidentified man turned in a false injury-accident and fire alarm at 9:06 Monday evening, telling the police desk sergeant that an automobile and gas transport had collided between 28th and 29th on O, that the transport was on fire and that an ambulance would be needed.

Six Fire Department vehicles, including 4 trucks and two cars from two fire stations, 3 police cruisers, two ambulances and one motorcycle converged on the scene, but there was no sign of either accident or fire.

Police and Fire Department officials immediately termed the false alarm "costly and dangerous."

Police Traffic Lieutenant R.

J. McMeen said the alarm was "foolish and expensive as far as the taxpayers are concerned."

Assistant Fire Chief Henry Badberg pointed out, "There was increased hazard because the fire equipment had to go down O Street," P which the trucks ordinarily would have taken, is closed for street repairs.

In addition, O was packed in both lanes heading east, apparently by people trailing the fire trucks.

Some Short-Lived

Badberg said some false fire alarms are merely vehicles whose fires are short lived or extinguished and the cars move on before the fire equipment arrives.

"Apparently this was not the case in this instance," he said. "It is often the case of false alarm that the person turning in the alarm just wants to see the Fire Department respond," he added.

Police Desk Sergeant Floyd Orr noted it was "the first false injury-accident alarm" he had received during his two years on the desk.

Curtis Hits Hoffa Rule

Washington (P)—Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb) proposed Monday new federal court action to force gangsters, racketeers and connivers out of the Teamsters Union hierarchy.

Curtis serves on the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, which is to resume public hearings Tuesday on allegations that the Teamsters' International president James R. Hoffa has leagued with the underworld to enhance his union power.

Hoffa is due back on the witness stand then for more questioning about labor racketeering. Curtis said in a recorded radio interview the evidence already is clear that Hoffa should give up the Teamster presidency. But the senator added that he doubts even this could bring the sort of housecleaning he believes the union needs.

Curtis suggested that U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts has ample authority to summon Hoffa into court here for an accounting of stewardship. The senator told a reporter later he believes that Letts should do so.

The union functions now with a board of monitors appointed by Letts helping to supervise its administration.

Hay Fever Patients now open Nose-Sinus Zone with New 3-Layer Tablet

Clear, free breathing restored in minutes as congested nasal zone is decongested—stops sneezing, watery, itching eyes

Chicago, Ill. (Special) Observers here are hailing a remarkable new advance against the most unrelenting misery of hay fever—congestion in the nose-sinus zone.

A way has been found to decongest this congestion. This is the central fact which has aroused so much interest on the part of hay fever sufferers who have never found satisfactory relief from other medications.

Up to now, nose drops, eye drops, inhalers, sprays and antihistamines have given some measure of relief. But today you can expect much more complete comfort. This new compound reaches all the congested nasal areas from all sides, through the blood stream. It opens up, up, blocked nasal passages. Free breathing is restored in minutes. Stops unpleasant sneezing; watery, itching eyes are cleared.

Senators Launch Campaign To Get Adm. Rickover Promoted

Washington (AP)—Sen. Clinton B. Anderson (D-NM) told the Senate Monday night that Adm. H. G. Rickover, the Navy's atomic expert, will be forced out of the Navy within the year unless promoted to vice admiral.

Anderson and other Democratic senators, including Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, said they would demand that Rickover be promoted and retained.

"Congress saved him before and it is my hope that if necessary Congress can save him again," Anderson, ranking senator on the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, said.

Bitter Criticism

Anderson and other Democratic senators bitterly criticized officials who failed to invite Rickover, often called the father of nuclear seapower, to the White House ceremonies last week announcing the successful under ice North Pole trip of the Nautilus.

Saying Rickover was "most responsible" for both military and civilian nuclear leadership in this country, Anderson scorned explanations there was not room to crowd him into the White House ceremony.

Pointing out that Rickover is a small 125-pounder, Anderson said he became "the little man who wasn't there."

'Space Problem'

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty has said a problem of space forced invitations to be limited to only top ranking heads of operational departments.

Rickover said he was too busy to worry about snubs.

"In the past the 'Old Guard' attempted to force this man out of the Navy," Anderson said.

He recalled how congressmen forced Rickover's promotion from captain to two-star admiral in 1953 "against the will of the Navy" in order to retain him in charge of the later successful atomic submarine program.

Within the past month, Anderson said members of the Congressional Atomic Committee conferred with the Secretary of the Navy "with regard to the necessity for continuing the services of Admiral Rickover."

He said Rickover will be out by next July 1 or soon after unless he wins promotions to the limited circle of 3-star vice admirals.

Medal Of Honor

Anderson disclosed that he also plans to introduce legislation for award of a special Congressional Medal of Honor for Rickover.

If Rickover is promoted to vice admiral, Anderson told the Senate the nuclear expert can remain in naval service until he is 62. He now is 58. Sen. Humphrey said the snub of Rickover at the White House ceremony was shocking, adding that lack of space was a lame excuse.

Jackson, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee as well as the joint congressional group, told the Senate:

"Admiral Rickover is the father not only of nuclear power for military purposes, but also of civilian atomic power."

Republicans Join

Two Republican senators later joined in the Rickover tribute.

Sen. Norris Cotton (R-NH) commended Anderson for his championship of Rickover and the latter's responsibility for the development of "the most important and potent weapon for defense of America and the free nations we have in our arsenal."

Also commending Anderson, Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) paid tribute to Rickover for his "great capacity for leadership."

'Sin World's Big Crisis'

Lincoln Star Special

Seward, Neb.—In keynoting the convention of the Southern Nebraska District of the Lutheran Church Missouri Synod, the Rev. Henry F. Krohn of Brule, president of the district stated that, "the most ghastly trouble in the world today is not the Mideast crisis . . . but rather sin and its horrible consequences."

The answer to the problem he stated is, "the good news that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners."

More than 300 delegates and guests representing 151 congregations in southern Nebraska and southern Wyoming are attending the conference at Concordia Teachers College here.

In their business meeting the Our Savior Lutheran Church of Cheyenne, Wyo., the Rev. Norman Hanneman, pastor, was received into the district.

It was reported at the meeting that a total of 47 workers were received into the district in 1958. Twenty-eight workers were transferred to other districts, one died and 3 retired.

With 175 students preparing for the teaching and ministerial professions in the church the Southern Nebraska district ranks sixth highest in the 32 districts of the synod.

1957 County Social Security Benefits Total $6.1 Million

Old-age, survivors and disability insurance benefits totaling $6,145,272 were paid to 9,136 residents of Lancaster County in 1957, according to A. F. Silber, manager of the local social security district office.

The benefits were divided among: 7,178 insured retired persons and their wives who received $5,007,600; 1,880 eligible survivors of deceased workers who received $1,070,928; 78 persons, qualifying under the new disability provisions of the law, who received $66,744.

In the 17-county area served by the Lincoln office, a total of $15,742,848 was paid last year to 25,536 beneficiaries of the system.

A total of $59,047,200 was paid in 1957 to 94,844 retired couples and surviving dependents. The disability insurance trust fund paid out $589,200 to 708 eligible disabled persons who had fulfilled certain work requirements but can no longer engage in gainful employment.

$64.20 Average

The average retirement payment in Lancaster County, $64.20 per month, was only 38 cents less than the national average of $64.58 in 1957. Statewide, last year's average was $61.15.

Disability payments averaged $70.30 in the county last year compared with $69.34 in the state.

Old-age insurance benefits ranged from a minimum of $30 to a maximum of $108.50 per month, depending upon the amount of earnings before retirement.

Air Safety Agency Gets Voice OK

Washington (AP)—The Senate gave speedy, voice vote approval Monday to a compromise bill creating a new federal agency to make and enforce safety rules for commercial, military and private planes.

The measure, which grew out of 3 tragic flight crashes in the past 2 years, now goes back to the House for final legislative action, probably Tuesday.

Its sponsor, Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) said new, unified control by a single independent agency is needed to save lives.

The 1956 collision of two airliners over the Grand Canyon and the crashes of military jets with passenger planes near Las Vegas, Nev., and Brunswick, Md., earlier this year spurred congressional action, as did numerous reports of near misses.

The bill sets up the $22,500-a-year civilian administrator of the new agency as a virtual czar over air traffic. He is given full authority to control the use of air space by all planes and to develop and operate a common system of air navigation facilities.

Navy To Fire Study Rockets During Eclipse

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—When the sun goes dark next month at Danger Island, rockets will roar into space.

They will be fired from the Navy's ship USS Point Defiance, scheduled to sail Wednesday on the scientific expedition to the South Pacific island, 350 miles from Samoa.

Two of the rockets will be fired just before the moon's shadow starts across the sun in the Oct. 12 eclipse: two more when the eclipse is total and two more immediately after it is over.

They will be equipped with instruments to measure the sun's radiation and that of its corona during the eclipse.

The Mail Battle

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There wasn't a great deal to the increase in postage rates which went into effect the first of the month. People are now paying the higher fee and doing little grumbling about it. In many ways, the four-cent stamp is still a big bargain if you're not in the mailing business in a commercial way.

But it is the commercial end of things that has caused the House Veterans Affairs Committee to speak out against what it describes as "unscrupulous professional fund raisers" who Charitable Funds Sidetracked "have bilked the public by collecting donations in the name of veterans." The main complaint of the committee was against those organizations which collect money for worthy charitable causes but fail to spend it for those causes. Instead, a great deal of the money is siphoned off for personal gain.

The committee had several recommendations which could well be expanded beyond the realm of charitable veterans organizations. One such recommendation called for a prohibition against the distribution of mailing lists compiled from the ranks of those who had contributed in the past to some particular cause.

It would be well if such lists were eliminated in a great many areas. An individual buys something through the mail and his name is then distributed around to every organization selling a related product. The result is an onslaught or avalanche of mail to sell the related product.

The committee said in regard to another practice that "no good reason is seen why the general public should be annoyed and burdened by the receipt of unordered merchandise for which they are expected to make payment or go to the trouble of returning."

Here again is an area where the public is often unfairly bothered. The sending of unordered merchandise should be restricted in a great many fields other than so-called charitable organizations. A great deal of what is sent out in this way is useless or at least unwanted.

In many cases, however, the receiver feels an obligation to do something about the receipt of anything of value through the mails. Of course, such merchandise need not be accepted. If accepted, it need not be returned or paid for but can merely be left unopened or discarded.

This is where the burden comes in. It is a burden of worry on the part of people who don't know what to do with such material. The sender follows the merchandise with a letter of inquiry, the average person might become even more alarmed and perhaps buy something for which he had no need or desire whatsoever.

A great bulk of the mail received at most households is unwanted for one reason or another. It would be impossible, of course, and not always desirable to stop advertising through the mails but those practices which are abusive to the public should be stopped. It cannot be said that such practices make no difference because such mail is disregarded by the public. It is not disregarded by many people or it would become an unprofitable endeavor and would have died of its own weight long ago.

Just Clutter In The Mailbox

It is hoped that the House Veterans Affairs Committee is able to expand its influence into other than mailings involving charitable veterans organizations. While the majority of these and other business activities through the mails are legitimate projects, the gyms and abuses should be abolished wherever they exist.

The New Challenge

A comment recently, attributable to Marquis Childs, who views the news from the vantage point of comprehension, is worth the searching thought of everyone.

He noted that when diplomats sit down to negotiate nowadays they are no longer on their own. Back of their chairs are the scientists who, leading from knowledge, set the metes and bounds of diplomatic strength. In short if the other fellow currently has the better bomb, your threats are no good.

That is, unquestionably, the new manner of life for everyone who wishes to survive, or live successfully. The scientists are only symbolic of the force which lives by fact; the denial of the historically held belief a thing is so if one can make it prevail in the thinking of the majority. Today it is becoming so that things are so if they can be proven so and wishful or determined thinking doesn't count.

Techniques Not Enough

An 11-man Russian agricultural delegation turned its interested attention to Nebraska this week, guests of the state in a study of farming as we practice it.

In due time American agricultural experts will return the visit to Russia to complete the exchange of ideas.

It is a commentary on the time that official Russia and official United States are filling the air in a cross-fire of criticism while a detached citizenry is rolling out the hospitable carpet for a group of Russian citizens who will soon do the same for some of our citizens. And both the quarreling governments are for it. It is a confused world, but these interchanges, these expressions of good will on the citizen level indicate that it is not a hopeless world.

Past exchanges in the field of agriculture have been mutually beneficial. Russia has used its new knowledge to make gains in its nation's food producing power. America has derived ideas for the further improvement of its superb agricultural machine. The world has thereby been made a little more secure against want.

The visiting Russians, being specialists and technologists, will take copious notes on the details of Nebraska operation and they are welcome to them. But we hope that both they and their hosts, the Americans, catch the greater principle, that techniques alone did not achieve all this. Rather, a prosperous, free way of life did. As in American medical advance, techniques and energetic research were fed by the fire of a population of Americans who were able to afford the constantly improving services.

It has been as much a gainful, free enterprising condition on American farms that has resulted in our advanced state of agriculture as it has been research, for the results of research are matters limited to scholars unless the practicing man can afford to apply it.

House Reports On Adams

The House committee investigating the activities of Presidential Aide Sherman Adams in connection with an Army textile contract case has made its report. The report does not specifically charge Adams with any wrongdoing but interpretation of the findings has been varied.

The case is one in which the Raylaine Worsteds, Inc., textile firm was first denied and then given a $40,382 refund of charges made against it for late delivery of goods to the Army. Adams had written inquiries about the case to the Defense Department but the subcommittee said there was no evidence that Adams intended to influence the Pentagon in its decision on the case.

Democratic members of the subcommittee explained the report by saying that it neither cleared nor condemned Adams while Republican members preferred to say the report cleared Adams. The case, of course, involves a matter of ethics as well as the law and, as is frequently true in such cases, a decisive finding in the matter is most difficult to arrive at.

It will be up to the public to decide for itself, not whether the Pentagon was actually influenced in this case or if any special benefit went to Raylaine, but whether the action by Adams represents the type of government that President Eisenhower had promised. It is not important merely in this one single case nor for Adams as an individual. It is important because it involves an issue upon which a great many votes were cast in the last presidential election. It has a direct bearing on which party holds national office and is thus important in relation to the nation's entire foreign and domestic program.

Hoover At 84

Former President Herbert Hoover celebrated his 84th birthday last Sunday and the nation rejoiced because the occasion found him not only ripe in years, but ripe with the wisdom of those years. It was especially impressed by his observation that public speeches should be limited to 15 or 20 minutes for the reason that longer speeches are boringly unfruitful and mighty hard on the listeners sitting department.

It is also comforting to contemplate the fact that most former U.S. presidents become more beloved in proportion to their longevity. Probably the two most highly thought of senior citizens are former Presidents Hoover and Truman and both presided over the country in highly controversial times.

"How's That For Bold, Imaginative Thinking?"

Diplomacy Yields To The Scientists

WASHINGTON — Here are some spectres which cast their shadows over American foreign and domestic policy today:

Spectre No. 1 — As the United States sits down to debate the Near East in the UN Assembly, looking over the shoulders of every UN diplomat, figuratively, will be an army of scientists. Those scientists represent strength. They represent Sputniks and Explorers, ICBM's and IRBM's, the modern missiles and weapons which give strength.

Today, almost one year after the first Russian Sputnik, Oct. 4, 1957, the United States still has not launched a satellite even remotely approaching the one-and-a-half ton Sputnik of Soviet Russia. So the spectres of scientists looking over the shoulders of U.S. diplomats and Soviet diplomats, together with Arab diplomats and neutral diplomats, will be a symbol of lessened American strength.

Spectre No. 2 — As the House of Representatives debated the science scholarship bill last week the future scientists of America, figuratively, looked over their shoulders.

"It's a crazy bill," opined Congressman John Taber of New York, also a member of Eisenhower's party.

"One thing Russia would like to see us do," said Congressman John Flynt of Georgia, a Democrat. "would be for America to destroy itself by bringing about financial instability" (by passing this bill).

So ran the debate as speech after speech was made to try to defeat the science scholarship bill on the House floor.

Spectre No. 3 — The shadow of waning American scientific power had been looking over the shoulder of Sen. Lyndon Johnson when he announced that the Senate would be kept in session longer if necessary to pass the science scholarship bill.

And the shadow of future scientists was looking over the shoulders of a small bipartisan meeting of Democrats and Republicans which met secretly under the leadership of Congressman Carl Elliott of Alabama to revive what GOP Leader Joe Martin indicated was a dead duck.

Martin told officials of the National Education Association that Eisenhower would not support his own science bill because the Democrats proposed 20,000 scholarships a year instead of 10,000. Ike's worry over Russian science and the Russian Sputnik was not sufficiently poignant. After proposing the science scholarship bill with considerable fanfare last winter, Ike suddenly seemed disinterested.

Washington Winks At Labor Abuses

WASHINGTON — A dangerous condition of domestic anarchy was revealed here last week when the McClellan committee turned its attention once more to the powerful Teamsters Union. There has been nothing like it since Al Capone built a gangland empire on the flaws of the noble experiment of prohibition.

Yet at week's end the President of the United States was ignoring it. Responsible labor leaders were quiet. The Department of Justice with all its vast powers to enforce and to promote the rule of law was silent. The Congress was still pigeon-holing its own mild beginnings of an attempt to deal with the abuses of labor's own right to organize and bargain collectively.

None of them could plead ignorance of the sickening details of criminality and corruption. The front pages were full of them. Teamster President James Hoffa was on hand with his gifted mouthpiece, Lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, to dramatize them.

Hoffa appears to feel completely secure in his command of one of the greatest unions in the country. He seemed confident as well that he could out-talk and out-manuever those who are now portraying his appalling conduct of that union and such efforts as might be made to call him to account.

He said nothing quite so quotable as "the public be damned," the famous description of a piratical attitude toward the public interest which W. H. Vanderbilt was startled into giving reporters in 1882. The degree of his cynicism was however complete. He could not be bothered to discipline his ex-convict employees and he was unmoved by the human torch death of one of them. His big money comes from "gambling of which he keeps no record" and the man who made out his income tax returns had thrown the work-sheet away.

Perhaps Washington today is entitled to some absorption in world problems, so bitterly acute and so apparently insoluble. But there are arms of the executive branch, including justice and treasury, which can work effectively on civil anarchy of this kind if the indignation and will are present.

In the Congress Hoffa is taking advantage of a combination of factors. They include the anti-labor bias of the far right which prefers to penalize rather than reform labor unions and the cowardice of most of the rest, moderates and liberals alike, who say they believe in the honesty and patriotism of most union members but fear to put that confidence to the test.

Aiding and abetting the impasse are those elements in business which prefer no start at all on reform measures unless they get their own way completely. They include segments of the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Retail Federation and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Perhaps some of these have a notion that the whole union movement can in this way be made to collapse. It is not today the wish or intention of the great majority of Americans that this should take place but the possibility that they could be made to entertain the idea represents the compelling challenge to responsible labor to force internal reform.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

It literally "rained cats and dogs" at our place. At least it would seem so for we now have five puppies in the garage and a nest of kittens in the barn. Now the next question that arises is how are we going to feed so many mouths?

Several months ago we befriended a stray little dog that wandered to our place, hardly more than a hank of hair stretched over a skeleton of bones. She skirted the farmyard for a day or two, hungry yet afraid, until by tossing her crusts of bread did she finally come to trust us. There were many provoking incidents such as the day she tore my broom to shreds and I threatened to send her down the lane followed by the scraggly broom, and the litter of bones she dragged into the front yard, burying one in the flower bed.

All that seems to have been forgotten now, for when she sat guarding her squirming brood this morning with that look of motherly pride accented by the rapid thump of her tail against the floor, she seemed to know we had not judged her too harshly. She tipped her head with that quizzical look of animal conflict. Her ears perked up and her eyes almost begged forgiveness for all of her puppy antics.

She licked my hand and seemed to say, "Look! I give you my most treasured possessions—five of the most beautiful babies in the world!"

When I considered the dividends for befriending a homeless puppy, I agreed we did get a bargain. A net return of five for one is good business in any man's language. Although dogs are the last on our list of things that we need more of, we have agreed to let the little family remain together—at least for the time being.

The Farmer went to the field this morning with the steel arms of the sprayer jutting from the tractor. He hopes the grasshoppers will feast lavishly on the poison that will be left on the alfalfa fields today. When the wheat was cut, they moved to the lush green of hay fields. Now that the hay has been removed, they moved into the corn. They were making inroads along the edges of the cornfields, eating the silks. When a plane sprayed the neighbors' fields, The Farmer had the pilot make several passes around the fringes of the corn rows and by nightfall, the hoppers were masses of yellow death. If you want to keep the grasshoppers in control, you have to be one "jump" ahead of them.

The gladiolus are in bloom now, shading from deepest lavenders to purest white. One of my favorites is a deep wine-red that looks like velvet—the kind of velvet that might be used for a queen's robe. There's a white edged with an apple blossom pink, dainty as a Japanese lady's kimono, and a golden yellow that caught every sunbeam that flitted across the garden. One has a warm orange glow as if the last parting poured into the flower cups.

I picked spikes for a bouquet this morning. Each bud seems to burst open with remarkable speed as they run up the stems. Tomorrow we plan to visit a small lad in a Lincoln hospital and the bouquet will be given to him—surely little boys like flowers, too.

There are times when I wish I knew how to preserve flowers such as they do in flower shops. The wind and sun, seeming almost warmer when traveling in a car, may wilt the gladiolus until they will have to be discarded along the way. They are such fragile flowers, but when we leave, they will occupy a special place on the back seat. That will put the back-seat driver up front!

Why Worry?

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Replying to Mrs. B., I never complain bitterly about anything. I have learned that the things I want most and make an issue over never mature, but if I say "nuts" to the whole business, I get at least a portion.

I still say that worry is more deadly than the act and am certain that any doctor will back me up on that score. As to the storms, I still say that all the warnings in the world won't stop the thunder or lightning. The first is just a big noise that doesn't hurt, anyway. Lightning is beautiful flashing or streaking across a summer sky. If it's your time to get hit by it, cowering in the corner or under the bed just "ain't gonna help."

If the roof is going to take off across country, stewing won't hold it there. So why worry?

Worry and fear puts as many people in hospitals as some reality. I still think thunderstorm warnings are for the birds and I bet even they in some momentary shelter are having a big time. I have watched a flock fluttering, hopping about chirping like delegates at a convention, most unconcerned and having a wonderful time.

So why worry? Let the other fellow do it, and you'll stay healthy a lot longer.

ANITA CLARK

Cellar Or Doghouse?

Milford, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: My hat's off to Anita Clark! All those storm warnings do is frighten the people. I for one know. I am a widow with two children and I have a boy friend 45 years of age and when one of those warnings goes on the air, the boy friend makes some excuse and rushes home to his mama. Then he and his parents spend the night in the southwest corner of the basement. The storm never materializes and the next day, he is groggy and crabby at work from lack of sleep.

"Mrs. B" said she would rather spend a few unnecessary hours of worry. I too am scared and worried, but I do not scare the wits out of my children. I tell them of the dangers of tornadoes and severe storms. There always shall be storms, so why scare the children? Don't make mama's children out of yours as no one will want them as life partners. I want a man to protect me, not one who deserts me to go home to his mama.

If you frighten your children now, it will stay with them all the rest of their lives.

BRAVE BUT SCARED

Rearming Germany

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A recent article stated that the German Sacialist leaders were telling the American people off by their opposition to the re-arming of Germany. I'm sure they have no such wish for the American people but only for the present American policy-makers who seemingly have forgotten history and are now busily engaged in rearming Germany with deadly rockets and nuclear weapons.

The Socialists and Communists were about the only organized groups in Germany that had Hitler correctly sized up and actively opposed him, but they lacked sufficient strength. The majority were apathetic and were willing to stumble along after a leader who pleased them by feeding their egos with the "super race" bunk and promises of a glorious future under a policy of strength and his leadership.

A READER

Chuck Holes

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Very conspicuous by its absence is the failure of the City Council to increase by any significant sum the funds for filling the city's chuck holes. Only $4,000-plus was added to the funds of the paving repair for this purpose. Slightly over one per cent out of a total budget increase of nearly $400,000. Clearly this budget shows on its face that filling chuck holes is an activity of minor importance. In other words, the lion's share, or about 99 per cent of the inflated budget, is going to be spent on purposes other than so-called street improvements.

LEO N. BARTUNEK

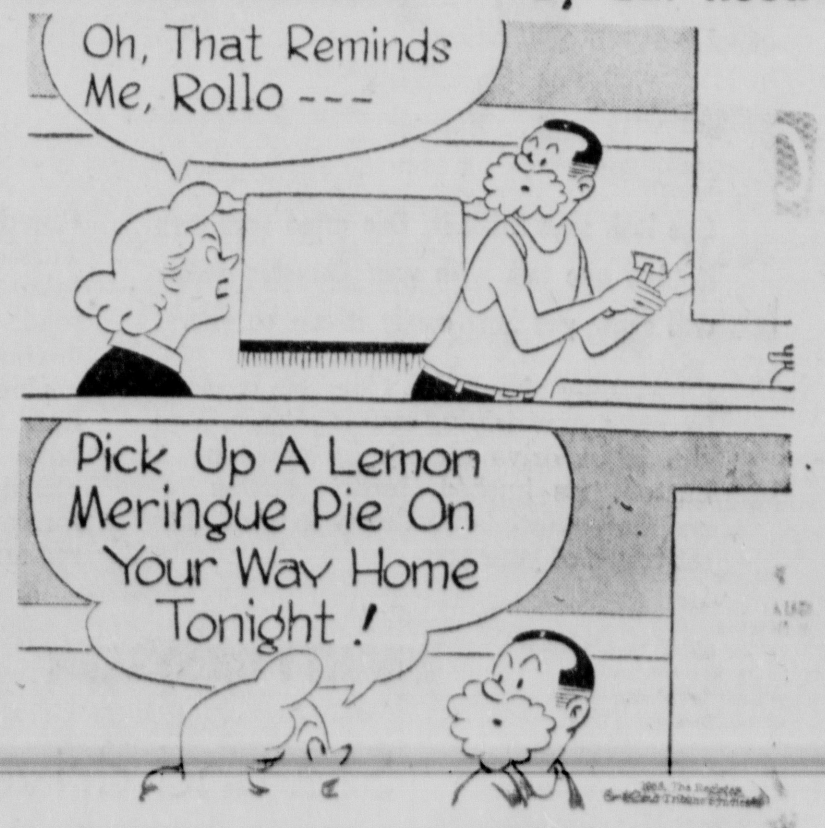

Ticket-Happy Cop

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I'm writing this letter in thorough disgust, not to the whole Police Department, but to the one particular cop who was so ticket-minded last Friday while my husband was being rushed to the hospital after being burned in an explosion. If he had been courteous and thoughtful, he could have waited until after my husband had been released from the emergency room. But no, he followed the driver right into the room and had to issue the ticket.

Well, this cop wasn't on his toes that day. My husband is still at the hospital and the cop can go right back there and give him a ticket for indecent exposure because he tore his clothing off to prevent further burns and was clad only in his undershorts. How could the cop possibly overlook such a thing?

Judge Munday Retirement OKd By Educational Lands, Funds Board

The retirement application of District Judge Frank J. Munday of Red Cloud has received the approval of the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds.

Judge Munday was authorized monthly retirement payments of $433.16, maximum allowable in Munday's case under terms of the Judges Retirement Act.

The Lands and Funds board administers the act.

Judge Munday's retirement takes effect Aug. 16 and Gov. Victor Anderson will have to appoint a successor to serve out a term expiring in January, 1961. The State Bar Assn. organization in the 10th Judicial District decided at a meeting in Hastings to poll its members for recommendations on a successor. The top names will be submitted to the governor.

Also approved by the board were pension payments of $93.75 per month to Mrs. Gertrude C. Nichols, widow of State Safety Patrolman Duane F. Nichols of Valley, killed in an auto accident July 24 while patrolling the highway.

Under terms of a 1957 amendment to a 1955 law,

Itinerant Grain Buyers Cannot Be Prosecuted

Itinerant grain buyers are not subject to criminal prosecution for violating the itinerant grain buyers act. The attorney general has held.

For one thing, the act prescribes no penalty for violation, the opinion noted. Additionally, the law is so indefinite and uncertain in setting out what shall be unlawful that it cannot be enforced.

County Atty. R. E. Richards of Chappell asked the opinion.

The law says itinerant grain buyers shall obtain a license and "shall be subject to the same laws, rules and regulations as may govern public warehousemen insofar as they may apply, and to such other and further rules and regulations as may be promulgated by the commission pertaining thereto."

The opinion was prepared by Asst. Atty. Gen. Homer Hamilton.

WEATHER AHEAD

Temperatures will average 5 to 8 degrees above normal over Nebraska during the remainder of this week, with only minor day to day changes. Normal afternoon highs range from the middle to upper 80s to near 90; normal morning lows range from the middle 50s to middle 60s. Precipitation is expected to average about 1/2 inch, occurring as scattered showers and thundershowers.

Tentative plans were made for a board tour of Nebraska during the week following the Monday, Oct. 13, meeting of the board. Public meetings are planned at Broken Bow, Chadron, Harrison and Arthur at which school land leaseholders and any other interested persons may meet with the board.

An expected appearance at Monday's meeting by representatives of Broadwater failed to materialize.

Broadwater has asked if it could refinance $55,000 in bonds and interest owed the board and due Sept. 1. Unable to pay off the debt as scheduled, Broadwater has proposed that it refinance most of the debt for 20 years at an interest rate of one and a half per cent.

Elmer H. Mahlin, secretary of the Board of Lands and Funds, said Broadwater Atty. Paul H. Eaton has noted that the community had a tax base of $500,000 when the debt was incurred, but since then the base has dwindled to $222,000.

Mahlin said he is hopeful town representatives will show up at the next board meeting Sept. 8 to discuss the matter further.

Incorporations Filed

The Big Mo Grain Co. of Hooper has filed articles of incorporation with the secretary of state.

Incorporators Harland S. Milligan and Evelyn M. Milligan, both of Hooper, listed an authorized capitalization of $100,000.

Also filing non-profit articles of incorporation was the Methodist Church of Allen.

Tariff-Cutting Bill Ready For Signing

Washington (P)—The Senate sent the reciprocal trade bill to President Eisenhower Monday, in just about the form he asked.

The bill extends the program 4 years and gives Eisenhower authority to cut tariffs as much as 20%, in exchange for concessions that foreign nations agree to make on admitting U.S. goods.

Monday's 72-18 roll call vote for passage was almost an there is sufficient protection for domestic producers from foreign imports. The bill gives Congress a voice in deciding whether relief is needed in any specific case.

It says that Congress by a two-thirds vote may override a presidential decision rejecting a Tariff Commission decision for relief to a domestic industry.

The commission already has the authority to recommend higher tariffs or import quotas on goods it finds are coming in to such an extent as to hurt American producers. Eisenhower has the authority to reject commission recommendations, and has done so.

Sen. Carl Curtis (R-Neb) voted with the majority as the Senate passed a bill extending the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act for 4 years. Sen Roman Hruska (R-Neb) did not vote but was announced as in favor of the measure.

anticlimax to the more than 6 months of hot debate the bill stirred up this year in Congress.

Passage removed one of several big issues that the Senate must decide before adjourning. The others include the $3,518,000,000 foreign aid appropriation, Social Security benefit increases and federal aid to education.

Maybe This Week
Adjournment could come this week, but could also be held up until next week. It depends largely on the Senate, which as usual has lagged behind the House in getting things done.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, came back from a trip to his sick mother in Texas Monday and predicted the Senate will move rapidly.

"It looks like we are going to have the most productive week of the session," Johnson said.

The 4-year extension voted for the reciprocal trade program is the longest in its 24-year history. The program began under Secretary of State Cordell Hull in the first term of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and has attracted bipartisan support as well as opposition.

Weeks Is Pleased
Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks issued a statement expressing pleasure at the congressional action and describing the measure as "the best yet—something we can really do business with."

Much of the congressional debate centered on whether

NOMINATED

Mrs. Barbara Bates Gunderson, Republican national committeewoman from South Dakota, was nominated by the President to be a member of the Civil Service Commission. The 41-year-old Rapid City was chief of continuity and women's director of an Omaha radio station from 1943 to 1945.

Rep. Hoffman Issues One-Man Dissent Report

Washington (P)—The Government Information subcommittee's only Republican member accused the subcommittee of glorifying Chairman John E. Moss (D-Calif) at taxpayers' expense.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich) also charged the subcommittee staff with leaking data to newsmen.

Hoffman spoke in a one-man dissent to a 241-page report approved last week by the 3-man subcommittee and its parent group, the House Government Operations Committee.

The majority report hit at "business as usual, in secret," in Washington and said the American public's right to know about government activities "is being smothered under a blanket of federal rules."

The report also criticized a Commerce department-issued biography of Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks as "a prime example of the use of public funds for the personal glorification of a federal official."

Rail Board To Hear LT&T Rate Hike Bid

... Probably In September

The State Railway Commission is expected to hold a hearing late in September on an application from the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company which Monday requested authority to increase its telephone rates.

No determined amount of increase was set out. The company asked only that it be allowed "fair and reasonable" rates.

The last rate increase requested and granted the company was in 1953 when the Railway Commission authorized a hike which amounted to an average increase of 12-13%, according to Merle Hale, vice president of LT&T.

Present earnings are "wholly inadequate" to provide a fair and reasonable return on the company's investment and property, and if continued would constitute an "unlawful confiscation of property," said the application signed by LT&T President Thomas C. Woods Jr.

Economies Tried

Hale said every effort had been made to offset increased costs by various economies, addition of time-saving equipment and efficient operating procedures.

"We have reached the point now, however," he said, "where we cannot absorb further costs without additional operating revenues."

In its application, the company said its net additions to plant and equipment from Jan. 1, 1953 to June 30, 1958 totaled $16,451,288, an increase of 63.7% over the total cost of telephone plant and equipment in service as of December 31, 1952.

Five general wage increases have added $1,547,375 to the company's payroll, or a 36% increase in the past 5 years, Hale said.

In that period, he continued, taxes have increased 55% and prices of major items of materials and equipment have gone up from 21% to 30%.

Investment Up 64%
Hale said the company's investment had increased much more rapidly than the increase in telephones in the past 5½ years. Investment has gone up 64% while the number of telephones has increased 21%.

As a result, he continued, the company's investment per telephone has gone up from $248 on Jan. 1, 1953 to $328 by June 30 this year.

LT&T now serves 164 towns and communities, maintains 125 exchanges or central offices and has 134,900 telephones, he said.

Noting expansion plans, Hale said the company's 1958 construction budget, which includes equipment costs, is $5,560,000 and that "$5 million a year construction budgets will continue, as we see it, for at least 3 more years."

LT&T now has under construction a 5-story addition to its building at 15th and M, and a 4-story and basement annex east of the building at 15th and M, in which the company will have invested $8 million when the work is completed late in 1959 or early 1960.

$1,750,000 Costs

Construction costs of the building expansion are estimated at $1,750,000.

The company has just completed construction on a $291,000 garage at 21st and L which it will occupy for the first time Thursday.

Hale said the substantial construction program now underway will further increase the investment per telephone and reduce the rate of earnings.

If the company is to obtain the capital needed for growth and service improvements, it must have a rate of earnings that will attract investors, the firm said.

Since the last rate increase was granted, the company has sold $11,236,304 worth of securities for additional capital needed, raising the total long term debt and capital stock by 62.8%, it said.

Rebels Attacked

After Hammond Slain

Beirut (P)—Pro-government followers of the slain political leader Ahmed Hammoud said Monday they had fought a bloody, 3-hour battle with rebels in the Lebanese hills near the Syrian border.

The battle raged at Aita village in the Rachaya district where Hammoud's mutilated body was found. Hammoud was a leader of the Syrian Social National Party (SSNP), a Lebanese group which supports the government of President Camille Chamoun because it hates President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

It could not be determined whether SSNP fighters were seeking revenge for Hammoud's death. The party leader and two other party members were found dead about two miles from the Rachaya district's border with Syria.

Technically, Hammoud's party is outlawed in Lebanon. Formerly known as the Syrian Popular Party, it advocates a union comprising Syria, Lebanon, Palestine, Iraq, Jordan and Cyprus. It considers the Egyptians are pretenders to Middle East leadership.

Sources close to party headquarters here said the SSNP fighters killed or wounded many rebels in the fight. They said the SSNP lost one dead and two wounded.

Ainsworth Irrigation District Hassle Continues

'Counter-Petition' Drive Adds Fuel To Lengthy Dispute

Ainsworth, Neb. (P)—Ainsworth Attorney William C. Smith Jr. said a "counter-petition" drive had been started to prevent dissolution of the Ainsworth Irrigation District. Smith said a petition was being circulated "to accommodate those who wish to withdraw their names from the original dissolution petition after they have learned the facts."

Last week Attorneys Roger Dickeson and Richard Berheimer of Lincoln said a farmers' committee was circulating petitions seeking an election to reconsider establishment of the district.

Prevent Govt.

The Lincoln attorneys said the purpose of the dissolution would be to prevent the Federal Government from carrying out a 25 million dollar program for irrigating 33,000 acres of land in Brown and Rock Counties.

The Government recently appropriated $1,100,000 for the district, which was formed in 1933 and entered into a repayment contract with the Government in 1956.

Smith said the district "has already created obligations which, if the district were to be dissolved would have to be paid by a levy upon the lands in the district."

No Price Supports

Smith said he disagreed with a statement by Dickeson that one of the major objections to the government's proposal is that "no price-supported crops could be grown within the district for 10 years."

Smith said this provision "runs from May 18, 1956, for 10 years and not 10 years after the district is built."

In Washington, Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) said whether some farmers can withdraw from participation in the district will have to be decided locally.

3 Demo Hopefuls To Attend Omaha Party Conclave

Omaha (P)—Three men mentioned as possible presidential hopefuls in 1960 have accepted invitations to speak at the Midwest Democratic Conference here Sept. 11-13, Nebraska National Committeeman Bernard Boyle of Omaha said.

Boyle, chairman of the meeting, said Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota will address the session at 10 a.m. Sept. 12. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts will talk at a luncheon and Sen. Estes Kefauver at 3 p.m. the same day.

Former President Harry Truman will speak at a dinner that night.

A regional campaign meeting will be held Sept. 13 at the conclusion of the conference in Omaha. Fifteen states participating will be those of the Midwest, plus Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.

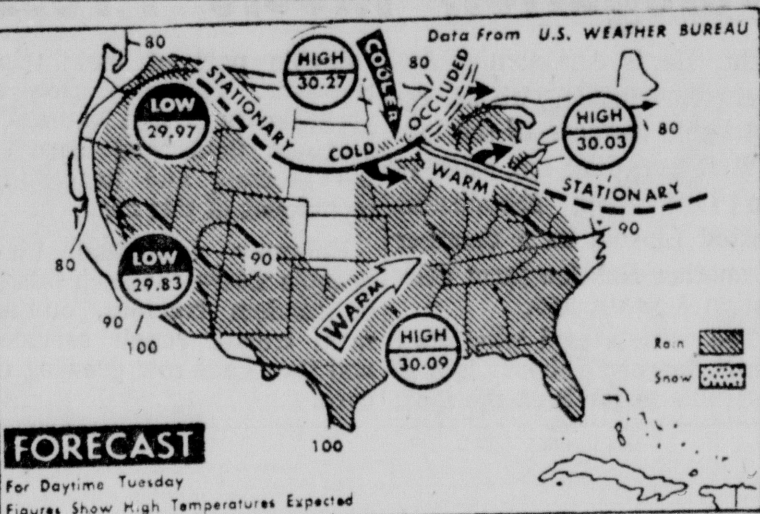

Attending the campaign meeting will be national committee members, state chairmen and others.

Interstate 1 To Extend To Omaha 42nd Street

Omaha (P)—Public works Director George Fisher reported Monday that Interstate Highway 1 will be pushed eastward as far as an interchange with 42nd Street in Omaha by next year.

Construction on Interstate 5 on the western fringe of Omaha will be started as far north as Dodge Street this year, he said.

Fisher conferred with State Engineer L. N. Rens last week.

More Suntan Weather Ahead

Showers and thunderstorms are expected to be scattered over most of the nation except the northern Plains, northern Lakes area, northeastern states and Pacific coastal plain. Temperatures will be cooler over the northern Lakes, with little change expected elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Who Says Recession? Nebraska Business Up

While some sections of the United States are continuing to slide downward in the trough of the current business recession, Nebraska's 3 major business barometers indicate a steady resistance to economic backsliding, according to the latest report of the University of Nebraska business research department.

- (1) Farm prosperity is reflected in Nebraska state bank loans. Last year, for the first time since 1953, loans to farmers increased. Further, business loans were also up from 1956.
- (2) Industrial payrolls in Nebraska last year jumped 4.6% over 1956. The 1957 payrolls of all industries with covered employment was $785,946,000. Average annual compensation of workers rose 2.6% per worker.
- (3) Retail sales in Nebraska in June were "still buoyant." Sales were up 4.7% over May for the state as a whole. Leading the way were farm equipment dealers who reported sales 24.1% over a year ago, service stations who reported an 18.2% increase and building materials dealers who reported an increase of 17.6% over a year ago.

10-Year-Old Gun Victim Still Critical

Omaha (P)—Ten-year-old Robert Fitzgerald was in critical condition at a children's hospital Monday with a bullet wound in the head.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar C. Fitzgerald, Robert was wounded when a .22 caliber rifle was accidentally discharged by his brother, Leslie, 14, in the kitchen of the Fitzgerald home Sunday. Three younger children witnessed the mishap.

Their father was visiting Mrs. Fitzgerald, who is in a hospital after the birth of her sixth child two days ago.

Police said the 14-year-old boy had made lemonade and his hands were wet. His thumb slipped on the trigger as he loaded the rifle before taking the younger children for a jaunt along the Missouri River.

PHELPS COUNTY FARM LAND SAID AMONG MOST FERTILE IN STATE

Holdrege, Neb. (P)—Outstate testing service experiments in corn fertilization indicate that some of the best farm land in Nebraska is in Phelps County, according to County Extension Agent Cal Ward.

Test yields on the Roy Pearson-Richard Hayes farm near Loomis were higher in nearly every case than those pounds applied by side-dressing ammonium nitrate when corn was 10-18 inches tall.

There were 17 different types of applications in each of the 4 irrigated fields tested in Phelps, Adams, Hamilton and Dawson counties. Unfertilized fields were compared also.

An unfertilized field on the Loomis farm was 112 bushels, considerably higher than the same test in other counties: Adams 98; Hamilton 77 and Dawson 75.

No U.S.-Russian Tension Shows As Soviet Ag Delegation Meets Press

By Bill Anderson
The 11 Russians currently spending 2 days in Eastern Nebraska as part of a two week tour of U. S. farm areas seemed to get quite a kick out of Lincoln newsmen who came to a press conference prepared for anything.
Sitting nonchalantly in front of a 12-man battery of reporters and photographers, the delegation of top-ranking Soviet agricultural experts happily answered, by way of interpreter, any questions of an agricultural nature thrown at them.
Looking like American tourists having the time of their lives, some of the delegation even snapped photographs of newsmen who were busily scribbling and manipulating cameras.

There was no indication of U. S.—Russian tension that has developed since the Mid-East crisis.
The delegation spend Monday at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture, viewing the tractor testing laboratory and the Agricultural Engineering Building.
Grigoriy Sergeevich Khlamov, a high-ranking farm industrialist, pointed out the Soviet program for putting virgin lands into production has been "quite a success." He said within the last two years 90 million acres has been put under cultivation. Most of the land went into spring wheat.
In one Soviet province alone, grain production increased 20 times as a result, he said. Total land under cultivation in Russia was estimated at 550 million acres.

'Prefers Corn Flakes'
When a reporter asked Khlamov what the delegation thought of American food, the Russian drew quite a laugh by replying, "I guess that's an individual matter." He said he "prefers corn flakes."
Khlamov, who is currently chief of the GOSPLAN automobile, tractor and agricultural machine building section, formerly worked for the Ford Motor Co. in Detroit, about 20 years ago.

On Tuesday, the delegation will visit the Dempster Mfg. Co. at Beatrice and tour an alfalfa dehydrating plant.

For 8 of the visiting Russians, this was the first visit to the U.S.

Mikhail Sidelnikov, chief engineer for the Stalingrad tractor plant, made a buying trip to the U.S. 13 years ago.

One Here Before
Some of the newsmen who visited with the delegation recognized one member on sight. He is Agronomist Andrei Shevchenko, whose remarkable likeness to the late Will Rogers had not escaped notice when Shevchenko visited Lincoln as a member of another Russian farm delegation 3 years ago.

The Soviets said what they have learned about hybrid corn has so far been the most valuable part of their trip. However, they also show a great desire to visit Nebraska sorghum fields and learn of the growing and harvesting techniques of this crop.

Khlamov expressed the group's interest in such things as tandem tractors, on-the-farm tractor repair services and the check-row growing of corn.

New Women's Reformatory Unit Studied

... Adding 12 Rooms

Top priority is being given to construction of a 12-room addition to the completely-filled State Women's Reformatory at York, the State Board of Control reported Monday.
Mrs. Hattie Bowley, Reformatory superintendent, said there are 49 inmates at the institution, which has a capacity of 50. Law requires that one cell be kept open for emergency.
Mrs. Bowley said she has had to refuse in the past months to accept prisoners from some counties because of lack of space.

$50,000 Cost
Charles Leeman, Board of Control vice chairman, said the addition to house 12 inmates will cost about $50,000. Funds would come from the state institutional building fund, subject to Gov. Victor Anderson's approval.

Leeman said Mrs. Bowley temporarily will try to fix up 3 more rooms, one in the institution library and two in the basement.

The addition probably will be two stories high, with 6 rooms on a floor.

Alternatives
Alternatives facing the Board were to discontinue housing women prisoners from other states or to contract with some county in Nebraska to hold the overflow of prisoners.

Nine inmates from Wyoming, which has no women's penal facilities, are kept at the Santiago, Chile (P) — Chile delivered a second protest to Argentina over landing of Argentine marines on a small barren island near the southern boundary of the two nations.

The Chilean protests said an Argentine cruiser destroyed a lighthouse Chile was building on Snipe Island.

Argentina claims the island is the subject of litigation between the two countries and Chile has no right to build a lighthouse on it.

Reformatory under contract with that state.

The increase in inmates at the York Reformatory is in line with generally increased penal populations over the country, Leeman said.

POSTCARD

Down to the stores this day and purchased myself a hat. It does not do a thing for me. This is odd. A lady with the blues goes down and buys a-frill for the noggin a n d is happier than if she had belted a bottle of Mil-towns.

The more it costs, the happier she is. If the price happens to have 99 cents on the end of it, she is in heaven. Heavenly days.

Buying almost anything simply puts me in a gloomy mood. I think it is because it is the only time I get to look in those threeway mirrors.

Looking in a three-way mirror gives you a candid view that is too candid. You do not look at all like you pictured yourself. The hat seems to perch on top like a pancake. You buy it in desperation—just to get out of the place.

We are whipped into line by the movies. When I was molding public opinion for the dailies, I wore a hat because movie reporters wore hats. The more battered, the better. Turned up in front.

I think that is why bankers wear vests.

I walked by the village bank today and saw my banker sharpening pencils.

That is a good sign. Business is on the upturn.

Bankers use pencils when they are feeling expansive. When things are not so good they turn loose the bookkeeper on the old adding machine. It is no time for comedy.

Possibly that is why bankers wear vests. It is a place to put their pencils.

When I wore my hat on the back of my head, I wore my pencils sticking out of my coat pocket. And took notes on the back of old envelopes.

Whenever the movies wish to show a man is kindly, they show him fixing something with his hands.

They show him puttering around the sink.

"Are you busy, Mr. Goodheart?"

"Just fixing the plumbing, son. There!" Wrench, wrench. "Now what seems to be the trouble? You say your father is just out of prison and the house is burning down? Well, now, son—"

That is a kindly man.

One vest does not make a banker. Nor a hat turned up in front make a star reporter.

While bankers keep their pencils sharpened like a needle, we scorned to sharpen our pencils. The duller the better.

The result is my banker's pencils snap off when he is doodling over my loans. And I cannot read my notes, they are that fuzzy.

A hat used to do something for me. Especially after seeing one of those movies. But no more. It just makes me feel like I am masquerading.

An Arizona Fivesome

A guest fivesome in Lincoln this week includes Mrs. James Edward M. Thomson, her two sons, Jim and John; and her two daughters, Janet and Cathy, of Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Thomson is the former Virginia Walter, KKG

SUBURBIA

Always a busy-busy community, Eastridge offers us a variety of news this morning about its residents, their houseguests and vacation plans, and of newcomers to the suburb.

Pursuing the "good neighbor" policy beyond the call of duty (we think) was Mrs. W. L. Wentworth who entertained at her home last Friday morning at an informal coffee to introduce Mrs. Herbert A. Anderson to her new neighbors.

You see, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and their children, Kathy, Steve, Judy and Susy, will be moving into the Wentworth's home at 843 Moraine Dr., which they have just purchased, along about Sept. 1 following the Wentworth's departure on Aug. 28.

Although Major Wentworth already has departed for the Azores and his new station with the Strategic Air Command, Mrs. Wentworth and their children, Marcy, Patrick, Tony and Lory, will leave the end of the month to visit family members in Texas before joining the Major at their new home in November.

Guests at the coffee included Mrs. Lee Gartner, Mrs. Thomas McGovern, Mrs. G. J. Biggs, Mrs. Albert Brown, Mrs. T. A. Evans, Mrs. H. E. Holze and Mrs. R. O. Freeman.

Talk about coincidence — seems as how Mrs. Wendell Harding and her daughter, Miss Sonya Harding, while on a European tour last summer, became acquainted with a young man, Edward C. Eisele Jr., of Hohokus, N.J., when their gondolas collided in Venice, Italy.

Upon his return to the States, Mr. Eisele went into the Air Force and was just recently transferred to Offutt Air Force Base.

Last week Mr. Eisele was a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harding, and on Tuesday at Nebraska, and the children are guests at the home of the late Mr. Thomson's parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. M. Thomson.

evening the Harding family entertained at a barbecue supper given in honor of the visitor.

On Wednesday Mrs. Harding's mother, Mrs. E. J. Sias, was hostess at a luncheon at the University Club, and that evening Mr. and Mrs. Del Harding entertained Mr. Eisele and Miss Harding for dinner at the Italian Village.

Understand that Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christensen and their children, Carol, Connie and Tommy, will be leaving the suburb this week on a 10-day vacation. The family, who will be sporting a house trailer during the trip, plans to visit friends in Wisconsin and Chicago.

Mention of Mr. and Mrs. Christensen reminds us that they entertained at a dessert supper for Mrs. Christensen's cousin, Bradley Bigelow, following his graduation from the University of Nebraska the evening of Aug. 1. On hand for the informal affair were Mr. Bigelow's fiancée, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Bigelow, of Lyons, and Mr. and Mrs. Lamoine Brownlee and their daughter, Linda, who had been the dinner guests of the Christensen couple earlier in the evening.

Motoring to Oklahoma the week end of July 25 were Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Kirkman who visited in Oklahoma City, and were present for the marriage of Mrs. Kirkman's niece, Miss Pat Conner, to Leland Coogan on Saturday, July 26.

Also recent guests in the suburb were Mrs. Donald Smith, her daughter, Betsy, and son, Steven, of Woodland, Calif., who spent last week visiting at the home of Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. William Smiley, Mr. Smiley and their youngsters, Ann, Mary Jeanne and Susan.

August--1958 Is A Month Of Brides

—every now and then one is forced to change his mind about something or other. We find ourselves in exactly that predicament. We never have considered August as a romantic month—until now. But our brides' book tells us that the current 31 days will equal, if not completely out-do June in the matter of weddings and pretty, pretty brides.

—we do have news of August brides-elect this morning, but before we delve into prenuptial courtesies, attendants and such, we want to mention a few other things—such as—

Col. Thomas Wells (ret.), Mrs. Wells and their son and daughter, Judd and Maury, arrived on Sunday from Paris where Col. Wells has been stationed for the past three years. And of course you remember that Mrs. Wells is the former Anne Bunting Heriot, daughter of Mrs. Archer Bunting whose guests the visitors are.

—and Sunday brought Miss Holly Hawke back home after several months of careering in Los Angeles. Miss Hawke was graduated last mid-year from the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma—She will remain in Lincoln until the autumn.

—we open our news of the brides with an announcement of the attendants for the wedding of Miss Ann Stebbins and Frank C. (Bud) Sidles which will be an event of Saturday evening.

Miss Stebbins has chosen her cousin Mrs. Dale Anderson as her matron of honor, and the bridesmatron will be

Mrs. Thomas S. Bowman of Denver, and Mrs. William Hewitt of Washington, D.C., sister of the bridegroom. The foursome of bridesmaids will include Miss Susan Andersen of Storm Lake, Ia., a cousin of the bride; Miss Margo Pinney of Clinton, Ia.; Miss Margot DuTeau and Miss Kay Deppen.

Samuel H. Ellis will serve Mr. Sidles as best man, and the corps of ushers will be Thomas S. Bowman of Denver; Bruce Martin of Omaha;

Robert W. Appleford of Birmingham, Mich.; James W. Mabie of Winnetka, Ill.; Howard A. Patterson, Jr., of Bronxville, N.Y.; Donald W. Gardner, Jr., of Marblehead, Mass.; Carl Zimmerman of Topeka, Kan., cousin of the bride, and Mr. Sidles' cousins, Michael L. Ward, Samuel P. Olson and Robert C. Reynolds.

—the week is filled with courtesies for Miss Stebbins and Mr. Sidles—Today Miss Stebbins will be the honoree at a luncheon for which bridesmaids Miss Kay Deppen and Miss Margot DuTeau will be hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club.

And this evening Mrs. Howard S. Wilson will pay prenuptial courtesy to Miss Stebbins and Mr. Sidles when she entertains at an hors d'oeuvres party and buffet supper at her home. The guest list will include members of the families, the bridal party, and out of town guests. On Wednesday evening Mr. Sidles will hold his bachelor dinner, and on Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. Phil Sidles will preside at dinner at the University Club in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Stebbins and their son.

Complimenting their daughter and Mr. Sidles on Saturday will be Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stebbins who will entertain the families, the bridal party and out of town guests at brunch at Hotel Cornhusker.

—another of the popular August brides is Miss Sara Carveth whose marriage to Bill James Clay of Grand Rapids, Mich., will be solemnized on Saturday evening, Aug. 23.

Miss Carveth also announces the members of the bridal entourage this morning, and the feminine atendants will be Mrs. Larry McKee, who will be her sister's matron of honor, and bridesmatrons Mrs. Stephen Carveth, Mrs. Larry Dunning of Cincinnati, O.; Mrs. Robert McGowan of Grand Rapids, Mich., and Mrs. Robert Knappe.

Ray Gebhart of Omaha will serve Mr. Clay as best man, and the ushers will include Robert McGowan of Grand Rapids, Mich.; Jack Miller of Wichita, Kan.; Dr. Stephen Carveth and Dr. Larry McKee.

Brides Book

In prenuptial courtesy to Miss Karen Hermanson who has chosen Saturday, Aug. 16, as the date for her marriage to Rowan C. Belknap, Mrs. Roger T. Larson will entertain a small group of friends at a coffee on Tuesday, Aug. 12. The affair will be held at the Larson home and during the morning hours a hostess gift will be presented to the honoree.

Mrs. V. R. Hoover and her daughter, Miss Jane Hoover, were hostesses on Friday, Aug. 8, when they entertained at a dessert-luncheon and linen shower given in honor of Miss Hermanson.

Other recent courtesies for the bride-elect include a kitchen shower and dessert-supper given by Mrs. Paul C. Schorr, III, on Wednesday, Aug. 6, and an afternoon coffee and grocery shower for which Mrs. Vern Carey and Mrs. Clarence Theede were hostesses on Monday, Aug. 4.

Making known the members of her bridal party this morning is Miss Marjorie Gossman, whose marriage to Dale H. Nelson will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 23.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at the First Presbyterian Church at 3:00 o'clock, Miss Gossman has chosen as her maid of honor Miss Edna Grimes. Mrs. Robert W. Tindall will be the bridesmatron while Miss Betty Howe will attend as bridesmaid. Miss Patricia Gossman of Verdon will be the flower girl.

BE GOOD TO THE BOWL

Sooner a wooden salad bowl's washed, rinsed and dried after using, the longer its pretty finish lasts. Never give the bowl a real soaking... a sudsy sponge is its best friend. Rinse quickly; dry at once. Save its shine!

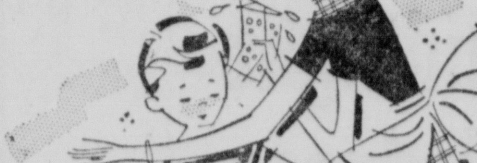

BEAT THE HEAT

No reason for you to bake when you're baking cakes or breads in Summer! Bake in the cool of the evening or the early morn. But even in hot weather, baking is a pleasure with today's modern gas range and its clock-controlled oven! You can shop, visit or just relax while your oven's at work in the kitchen. Just set the dials. The oven turns on and off automatically, right on time! It's time for you to see those new gas ranges... at your local gas company or neighborhood gas appliance dealer.

OOPS... DROPPED THE CHOP!

Cold water should be used to sponge away egg or meat spots from clothing, right away before the garment's laundered. If any stain stays after washing, sponge the spot with carbon tetrachloride. (Windows open, please... never in a closed-up room.)

BETTER BREATHING

One benefit of modern living we take for granted: The mammoth subway transportation systems called "pipelines" transport natural gas, erasing from our skies smoke and smudge caused by "raw fuels." These underground pipelines make our communities cleaner, keep the air purer, protect our health...and they bring us a miracle fuel for better living! Northern Natural Gas Company is the pipeline supplier who brings gas to your town... and your local gas company brings it to you.

SAVORY SHELLFISH

Mmmm...you can almost smell that salty sea breeze when you serve this treat submitted by Mrs. A. C. Telford of St. Louis Park, Minn.! Scald 1 pint frozen oysters (drain and reserve liquid). Heat 1 cup milk and 1/2 cup cream; add oyster liquid. Blend 2 Tbsp. melted butter with 3 Tbsp. flour. Stir in hot liquid and cook (stirring often) till thick and smooth. Add 1/2 cup catsup, 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce, 1/4 tsp. salt and 1/8 tsp. paprika. Add one small can crab meat and the scalded oysters. Serve hot on buttered toast or toasted crackers, to six delighted people.

Dear Abby . . .

Men Are Never Satisfied!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm married to one of those women who has a "green thumb." She's got the house, all the windows, and porch (front and back) so cluttered up with little tiny pots and plants there is no room to turn around in. The house smells like a funeral parlor and the place looks like a flower shop. She runs around watering morning and night and her conversations are full of African violets (she even belongs to a Club for this one) and the thirty varieties of ivy. How can I get her to give up her indoor gardening and pay me some mind? WILTED

DEAR WILTED: Something other than the plants are turning green — appreciate your wife's talent and be glad she has a hobby that is down to earth and keeps her home.

DEAR ABBY: I am just an old man who watches the world go by under his window. I am 78 years old and sit in my rocking chair and see a great many things as my window faces a square where children play. Every morning at 10 o'clock one mother comes outside bringing a glass of milk to her 12-year-old son. I can see the poor little fellow turning red because his friends on the block make fun of him. He takes an awful teasing as he chokes down the milk as fast as he can. Doesn't this mother know that she is doing him more harm than good?

OLD OBSERVER

DEAR OLD: The milk of human kindness would give more nourishment to this sensitive twelve-year-old boy. Why don't you tell the mother to call the lad in and let him drink his milk privately?

DEAR ABBY: What makes a man want to grow a beard? It can't be because he dislikes shaving because he spends twice as much time trimming his beard as he would if he took a clean shave. My boyfriend has had his beard for two months now and I don't care for it. At first it was a novelty, but now every time I kiss him it is like falling face down on a broom. How can I get him to shave it off?

NANCY

DEAR NANCY: Kissing a man with a beard must be a ticklish business. Tell him plainly that you are not eager for his beaver.

CONFIDENTIAL TO B. B. We have heads on us for the same reason that pins do. To keep us from going too far. Simmer down!

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Lincoln Secretary Wins Award

Mrs. Arthur B. (Louise) Ward of Lincoln has received word that she has successfully passed the Certified Professional Secretaries examination sponsored by the National Secretaries Association.

Mrs. Ward, who is secretary to University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford Hardin, has joined a relatively small group of 1,000 in the nation winning the CPS award, and becomes the third secretary in Lincoln to pass the examination. Others are Mrs. Kathleen Evans, president of the Lincoln Chapter of the National Secretaries Association, and Miss Dorothy Beever, a member of the chapter.

The award is not limited to members of the association, and the intensive two-day examination is administered to qualified secretaries upon application to the Institute for Certifying Secretaries.

Opening its fall season of activities on Monday evening was the Lincoln chapter of the association which held a 7:30 o'clock dinner-meeting at Hillcrest Country Club. A social hour at 6:30 o'clock preceded the dinner, and the evening hours were spent informally.

Stocks Set New High In New Session

New York (AP)—The stock market carved out a new 1958 high Monday in the slowest session in 4 weeks.

Many stocks edged up fractions. Some steels and specialties were in demand, with gains ranging from 1 to around 3 points. Numerous small losses dotted the list.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 70 cents to $100, surpassing the previous yearly high set last Monday and equaled Friday. The all-time peak in the index was $101.50, on April 6, 1956.

Trading dropped to 2,670,000 shares from Friday's 3,650,000 shares for the heaviest day since July 14 when volume amounted to 2,500,000 shares.

The market was a little higher throughout the day. The ticker behind floor trading only at the opening.

Steels were up fractions in the morning, then widened gains after output for this week was estimated at 10.5 million compared with last week's 10.3 million.

Otherwise the news background continued much the same as in recent weeks. Short-term money market rates showed up another notch and U.S. government bonds retreated to new lows.

Both developments prompted some caution in the stock market, brokers said.

The advance carried the AP average to the highest point since July 20, 1957. The index closed at 100.00, up .06, both making 1958 highs. Utilities were unchanged.

Of 1,184 stocks traded advances outnumbered declines 306 to 414, with 264 unchanged. There were 137 new highs for the year and 9 lows.

The American Stock Exchange was mixed on volume of 870,000 shares, compared with Friday's 1,040,000 shares.

New York (AP)—Long-range U.S. government bonds declined again Monday to new lows for the year in desultory trading. The market was extended to more than a point.

The corporate market closed lower, with rails, industrial and industrial-giving around. Investment quality issues were mostly mixed, while foreign government bonds were steady.

Corporate trading declined to $5,350,000, the lowest since the big boom of $16,400,000 last Friday.

Wheat Steady As Other Grains Fall

Chicago (AP)—Wheat futures absorbed a moderate volume of hedge selling on the Board of Trade Monday and finished within a steady range while other grains and soybeans resumed their decline.

The only contract in the list, however, to finish with a gain was the May wheat and it was by the smallest fraction of a cent.

The further setbacks carried some additional contracts to within a very few cents of the season's lows. Now include all wheat, March and May corn, all but September oats, March and May rye and January, March and May soybeans.

Corn and soybeans were under the heaviest pressure, each losing a point or more. The outlook for bumper yields.

Dealers said some of the weakness in corn was related to a moderate increase in cash receipts but the cash prices continued firm with the No. 2 yellow grade selling at much as 10¢ a bushel lower to 1¢ higher, September 1.84 1/4-1/2; No. 3 1.81-1/2; No. 4 1.78-1/2; No. 5 1.75-1/2; No. 6 1.72-1/2; No. 7 1.69-1/2; No. 8 1.66-1/2; No. 9 1.63-1/2; No. 10 1.60-1/2; No. 11 1.57-1/2; No. 12 1.54-1/2.

GAMBLING INQUIRY OPENS—
Multi-Million Dollar Syndicate Probed

Indianapolis, Ind. (UPI)—A federal grand jury Monday opened an investigation of a multi-million dollar gambling syndicate involving one of the world's richest men and one of the famed Marx brothers.

—Summit Talks—

Moscow Tries To Blame U.S.

... For Summit Failure

Moscow (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev Monday attempted to shift blame to the United States and Britain for torpedoing a summit conference and leaving the Middle East crisis to the U.N. General Assembly.

He still expressed the hope the Assembly emergency session starting Wednesday would clear the way for a "conference of leading statesmen of the East and West." But he did not use the words "heads of government" in this connection.

Denying that the Soviet Union backed down from a summit meeting in the U. N. Security Council, Khrushchev said he proposed the General Assembly session because it had become clear the United States and Britain planned a Security Council session loaded against Russia.

Talks of "Aggression"

He said the two Western allies wanted to use the meeting as an attempt to justify their "armed aggression" in the Middle East and to hurl charges of "indirect aggression" at other nations.

Khrushchev laid out his views in a letter to Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain. Dated Sunday, the letter was in reply to one Macmillan had sent to Khrushchev on Aug. 7, accusing the Soviet Union of backing down after first agreeing to a summit meeting within the Security Council.

(The letter was one more in a new barrage from the Soviet leader. He sent letters to Sweden and Greece Sunday asking for support of the Soviet stand in the General Assembly debate.

U.S. Treasury agents and residents of Terre Haute, Ind., the town where the ring made its headquarters, were scheduled to be among the first of more than 170 persons subpoenaed to testify during the two-week investigation.

They Had No Idea

Five employees of the Manor House Restaurant in Terre Haute testified they had no idea the syndicate was operating two stories above them in the downtown building.

Those subpoenaed from all over the nation included oil millionaire H. L. Hunt of Texas, reputed to be one of the richest men in the world, and Zeppo Marx, a one-time member of the Marx brothers comedy team.

U.S. District Attorney Don Tabbert said most of the persons subpoenaed are believed to have placed large bets with the syndicate. Although the government believes these men were customers of the ring, Tabbert said, it does not regard them as members of the organization.

3½ Million-In-10 Weeks

Tabbert spent 3 hours at the opening of the investigation reading a voluminous background report to the 23 jurors. He then told newsmen he believes the syndicate may have grossed more than $3,500,000 during its 10 weeks of operation at Terre Haute.

The gambling ring's third-floor offices were raided by federal agents Nov. 29. T-men found 8 telephones jangling with calls from bookies, along with evidence that the ring handled whopping bets of $1,000 or more on college and professional football games, Tabbert said.

The giant, international operation fell apart because someone apparently forgot to buy a $50 federal gambling tax stamp, Tabbert said.

Big Loan To Egypt

Cairo (AP)—The Middle East News Agency reports Industry Minister Aziz Sidky is going to Communist East Germany next week to sign an agreement for a 20-million-dollar loan for Egyptian industrialization.

The marriage to Jacque was the second for Miss Carol. It was his fourth.
